

INCREASE SHOWN IN GARMENTS OF NEEDLEWORK GUILD

Bristol Branch Members Donate 1663 Items For Annual Exhibit

HEAR SOCIAL WORKER

Mrs. L. Bartram, of House of Industry, Phila., is Speaker

Topping last year's total by 42 garments, members of Bristol Branch, Needlework Guild of America, were elated yesterday afternoon at the 1948 gathering to learn that 1663 articles were ready for distribution to needy individuals, far and near.

The exhibit was made possible by scores of members who donated two or more new garments each for those less fortunate. Six of the directors or member groups attained the honor roll this year, by virtue of collecting more than 100 garments.

Heading the list was the Bristol Chapter of Catholic Daughters of America, with 188 garments; next, Bristol Guild sewing department, 131; Edgely sewing department, 126; Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, 125; Miss Florence Chambers, 122; and Miss Jennie Chambers, 108.

Some of the enthusiasm for her work at the House of Industry, Philadelphia, was transmitted to members by Mrs. L. Bartram, who since coming to this country in 1932 has put in many years of sincere work at the House of Industry, a social agency at 7th and Catherine streets, Philadelphia. Operating to a large degree through "Red Feather" contributions and gifts and aid of friends, the "house" has a large "clientele", mostly of Italian descent.

The numerous programs at the House of Industry were told of, including the nursery school, with hot lunches served and informal play arranged, during the day-time hours; programs for children of school age after school hours, with classes in dramatics, cooking, sewing, other arts, evening programs and classes for adults. The women present yesterday were particularly interested in the Mothers Club with a membership of 55. "Most of these mothers have no opportunity to get away from their homes for awhile, even 'up town,'" commented Mrs. Bartram. This group, largely of European birth, meets each Wednesday evening. "Teen agers also gather on certain evenings, and chorus work is scheduled.

"If you could only be there when we give out to those in need the new clothing sent by the Guilds!" remarked the guest. She then cited instances where Guild articles had come in so handy—a colored family who lost all in a fire, which was provided with a layette for the baby and clothing for others in the family; a number of English war brides disillusioned to find their husbands' jobs, homes or surroundings other than they had been led to believe; and who in some instances, deserted, found ready help at the House of Industry. "It is so nice to have a supply of clothing on hand for these emergencies," said Mrs. Bartram.

The Guild members were much interested in the story of the book obtained through great effort by the speaker for a small section of the playground. "The children had often heard me speak of grass, and when they arrived at the grounds after the sod was placed they remarked 'This must be what Miss Lee' told us about.' Each child had brought a penny or two to help pay for the sod. And when they

Boltz Asks Pardon Board To Commute His Sentence

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5—Robert Boltz, former investment broker who was convicted seven years ago of embezzling more than $1,000,000, asked the State Pardon Board yesterday to commute his 33-year prison sentence.

Boltz, also an attorney, pleaded guilty when brought to trial in 1914. Persons who had done business with him credited him with a "magic touch" in the stock market until the embezzlement of their funds was uncovered.

Following the embezzlement disclosure Boltz became a fugitive from his Bucks county farm. An extensive police hunt for him ended when he was found walking along a street in Rochester, N. Y. He had disguised his appearance.

In his appeal yesterday, Boltz said he wanted to "make reparation to an innocent wife and a single daughter, now 28, who have been shadowed by my wrongdoings." Boltz, who is 61, is in Eastern State Penitentiary.

However, Boltz, in the petition filed at Harrisburg, acknowledged that he had no promise of future employment. Such assurance is generally a prerequisite for parole and parole applications by prisoners usually follow a commutation plea.

Boltz made a similar appeal for commutation in November, 1946. It was refused.

GIRL HIT BY TRUCK; HER LEG IS BROKEN

Margaret Kennelly, Bristol Heights, En Route To Mass When Struck

BRISTOLIAN IS DRIVER

CROYDON, Nov. 5—A 16-year-old girl, enroute to attend eight o'clock mass at St. Thomas Aquinas R. C. Church, was struck by a truck operated by a Bristol motorist this morning.

The injured, Margaret Kennelly, of Bristol Heights, right leg broken three inches above the knee, internal injuries.

The driver of the car was Guido Mazzanti, 58, of 329 Lincoln avenue, Bristol. The accident occurred on Route 13, at about 7:30 this morning, just below the overhead bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Maynes Lane. Mazzanti, driver of the truck, was enroute to market, and Miss Kennelly was walking on the highway with traffic, along the edge of the highway. Mazzanti told Bristol township chief of police Joseph Seader that he was blinded by the mist and fog which enveloped the roadway at that time, and that he did not see the girl until it was too late for him to stop his vehicle.

Miss Kennelly was taken to the Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, by the Bucks County Rescue Squad, where X-rays will be taken this afternoon to determine any further injuries she may have sustained.

OVERCOME BY COAL GAS

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 5—A family was affected by coal gas here yesterday morning. Bucks County Rescue Squad members were called upon to administer oxygen to Naomi Michaels at her Echo Beach home at 19 a. m. One other member of the household was slightly affected, it is stated. The squad took William Daniels, Croydon, to his home from Mt. Sinai Hospital, Philadelphia, and Patrick Howard, Bath road, to Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Democrats are moving to implement two of their campaign promises. As soon as President Truman returns to the White House today he will press for early repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law and for the passage of a substitute labor measure. Senator Taft expressed doubt that the Taft-Hartley Law would be annulled. Senator Ellender planned "immediate enactment of an adequate public housing law."

Mr. Truman does not want another term, it was said authoritatively. The President, on his way back to Washington, urged cheering crowds to help him discharge his "terrible responsibility." Government employees in the capital will have a half-holiday to welcome him on his return this morning.

It was disclosed that Vice-President-elect Barkley preferred to serve as the informal Democratic leader of the Senate and liaison man with the White House.

Formation of a non-profit research corporation to make available for defense "the nation's best scientific abilities and achievements" was announced by the Air Force.

The United States was said to have "loaned" to France $5,000,000 worth of equipment with which to reform three Army divisions.

Surprise Event Follows Meeting at Cornwells

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 5—Mrs. Raymond Entwistle and Mrs. William Kepler were hostesses to the W. S. C. S. of Cornwells Methodist Church at their residence on Monday evening. At the conclusion of the business meeting, a surprise shower, which had been arranged for Mrs. Henry Heavener, took place in an adjoining room. The centerpiece was an eight-inch "stork" surrounded by white and yellow mums and red and white roses.

A repast was partaken of by Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. Howard Dennis, Mrs. Edward Dyer, Mrs. C. Lee Johnston, Mrs. M. Mandrell, Mrs. Norman Warden, Mrs. Harry Hibbs, Mrs. J. Garrett, Mrs. George Sanders, Mrs. Elizabeth Malone, Mrs. F. S. Lockhard, Mrs. Elmer Yorty, Jr.

SALE OF 2 SPANS IS RESTRAINED

Temporary Order is Continued by Judge Kinkead at Jersey City

STOPS ALL TRANSFERS

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 5—In a continuation of the fight to halt the sale of the Burlington-Bristol and Tacony-Palmira bridges to Burlington County.

Judges Robert V. Kinkead tied up proceeds of the sale of the Tacony-Palmira and Burlington-Bristol bridges for $12,000,000 by a bridge company to a bridge commission set up by the Burlington County Board of Freeholders.

Judge Kinkead issued his further notice order at a hearing on a petition filed by two Burlington county taxpayers, Henry S. Haines and Richard J. Lippincott who unseated two Republican freeholders in Tuesday's election. They ran on the Democratic ticket.

After long argument by counsel for the taxpayers and by counsel for the bridge company, Judge Kinkead

Gilardi Is Now With Special Training Unit

FORT BRAGG, N. C., Nov. 5—Ret. James Gilardi, of Tullytown, Pa., is hard at work taking basic training at the special training unit at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

The special training unit, commanded by Brigadier General Homer W. Kiefer, is a new set up to give new army recruits an eight-weeks basic course. Hand picked men, most of whom are combat veterans from the 82nd Airborne Division, are instructing the men.

Personal hygiene, care of clothing, military courtesy and discipline are among the first things taught the recruits. Defense against chemical attack, citizenship, map reading, marches, physical training, instruction in and firing of weapons and combat fighting will be given the men during their training.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gilardi, who reside on Lovett avenue, Tullytown, and husband of Mary Gilardi. He entered the army on August 5th.

LODGE SERVICE

Members of Hopkins Lodge, No. 87, I. O. O. F., will meet at the lodge hall at 7:30 this evening and proceed to the Morden funeral chapel to conduct a service in memory of the late Charles Marrs, Park Ridge Lodge, No. 264, Park Ridge, N. J.

PATERSON PARCHMENT PAPER CO. STRIKE CASE IS HEARD IN BUCKS COURT BEFORE JUDGES KELLER AND BOYER

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 5—The Paterson Parchment Paper Company strike case came up for a hearing in the Court of Common Pleas, of Bucks County, with Judges Hiram H. Keller and Calvin S. Boyer, sitting in equity.

Paterson Parchment Paper Company, plaintiff, operates a large plant near Tullytown, where some 360 workers have been out on strike since Aug. 20, 1948.

The hearing was scheduled to be continued this morning at 11 o'clock, when other witnesses are to be heard.

The case is in court with the plaintiff company opposed by the defendants who are the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, Bristol Local No. 509, and 25 workers at the plant and officers of the union.

The action brought by the company resulted in a rule being granted in the County Court here some time ago, upon the defendants, to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not issue in the proceedings.

On Nov. 1, Judge Keller, upon motion by attorneys for the petitioners granted a rule on the company to show cause why all proceedings should not be stayed pending the determination of the facts by the jury in the United States District Court, for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, at the hearing of the case in civil action and the disposition of the action by the United States District Court.

The rule was made returnable yesterday morning.

Attorney Louis Wilderman for the defendants argued at length before the court yesterday, that the proceedings should be stayed.

The contention of the plaintiff is that there exists a valid subsisting labor agreement between the plaintiff and the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers and International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, Bristol Local No. 509, the defendants.

Attorney George E. Beechwood, for the plaintiff company, argued to the court that as a result of the strike the company is losing good will, business, orders and that workers who want to return to work are kept from returning.

"We seek in this bill in equity to resume work at the plant to give those who want to return, a chance to do so," Attorney Beechwood argued.

The plaintiff attorney contended that the suit in the Federal Court brought by the company, seeking damages, has nothing to do with the Bucks County proceedings.

If there is no valid contract existing in this case, the local court has no jurisdiction, Attorney Beechwood informed the court.

METHODISTS PLAN A BIG RALLY ON MONDAY

To Hear Dr. Allen E. Claxton, of Broadway Temple, New York

FELLOWSHIP DINNER

BUSTLETON, Nov. 5—A rally of interest to Methodists of this area is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 8th, with afternoon and evening sessions. The hours are 2:45 and 7:15 o'clock.

Dr. Allen E. Claxton, pastor of Broadway Temple, New York, N. Y., will speak in the evening. He has been appearing over a national radio hook-up on the program "Building Morale".

The mothers' chorus of 30 voices from Edmunds Public School, Philadelphia, will sing, with Mrs. H. J. Maakstad as leader. Accompanied will be Mrs. George R. Bunting. At 7:15 the brass quartet of Huntingdon Valley Methodist Church, will give a 15 minute concert of hymns of the church, with hymn singing following, lead by Charles J. Teasley, of Logan Church. The Rev. Harry Heavener, pastor of Cornwells Methodist Church, Cornwells Heights, will offer prayer, and the Rev. C. Edwin Franke, New Hope, will pronounce the benediction.

Fellowship dinner is set for six o'clock.

The afternoon session will be a period of short inspirational messages. William B. Smith of Huntingdon Valley, will conduct the hymn singing at 2:45. Devotions will be by the Rev. Walter S. Johnston, of Oak Lane. Miss Eunice Britt, a deaconess who is doing special work for the Woman's Society of Christian Service, will give a message on "My recent experiences Abroad".

Miss Britt recently returned from a tour of Italy, Switzerland, France, Luxembourg, Holland and England. The Rev. Louis W. Mitchell, Church of Redeemer, Bethlehem, will speak on "Unshakable Foundations". "Spiritual Insight" will be the theme of the Rev. Charles Truax of Cheltenham Avenue Church. The Rev. George Epiphany, of North Wales, will speak on the topic "Sacrificial Living" and "Thy Word-A Lamp" will be the theme of the Rev. Samuel Gaskill of Tullytown. "Youth's problem in the Modern Church" will be the message of Miss Rosalia V. Jenkins who is the youth director of the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Church.

Grace William Cox of Frankford Avenue Memorial will be the afternoon soloist and the Rev. Frank E. Davis, of Lansdale, will give the offertory prayer and the Rev. W. Edgar Cathers of Cookman Church will pronounce the benediction.

Reject 2 Bids for Collection Of Ashes and Rubbish Here

Bids for the collection of ashes and rubbish were opened by the street and highway committee of Bristol borough council last evening in the municipal building.

There were only two bids submitted and both were rejected by the committee as being too high. The lowest bid submitted was for $1,000 per month.

Indelicato in Training At Great Lakes Station

Michael L. Indelicato, USN, son of Frank Indelicato, of 1912 Elm street, Bristol, Penna., is undergoing recruit training at the world's largest Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Recruit training is the sharp break between civilian and naval life in which the new Navy man learns the fundamental principles of the Naval service.

In the course of his training the recruit is taught seamanship, Navy customs, terms, basic ordnance, gunnery, signalling and navigation.

Upon completion of his training the recruit is assigned either to units of the Fleet or to a service school for specialized training.

Gives History of The Kaiser Organization

Bristol Exchange Club held its weekly meeting in St. James' Episcopal parish house last evening, with dinner served by women of the church.

After a brief business meeting, president, David Hertzler, called upon Walter Fagon, Jr., who introduced as guests Glenn Berry, sales manager of Berry Garage Doors; Devon Smith, personnel manager of Kaiser-Fleetwings; and the speaker of the evening, Ralph Collett, works manager of Kaiser Cargo, Fleetwings Division.

Mr. Collett gave a most interesting history of the Kaiser organization which has its main offices in Oakland, Cal.; and outlined the Bristol plant with the parent company. Said he: "The Bristol plant of the Kaiser organization has undergone many changes, both in the interior of the plant itself and the personnel, during the past six months, and very definitely is here to stay as a staple industry. The present personnel of approximately 300 will be doubled within the next 12 months. More than 30,000 doors for the Kaiser-Frazier car have been manufactured in this plant during the past two months, and preparations for manufacture of sanitary products—kitchen sinks, wall cabinets, and bath-tubs are progressing satisfactorily. Plans are being made for a large warehouse, a plant dock along the river side of the factory, deep water shipping facilities which are very necessary for the proper handling of the finished products which also include the Kaiser combination sink and dishwasher handled by the Kaiser Sales Corp.

"LITTLE BROWN JUG" GAME IS TOMORROW

Bristol and Burlington High School Teams to Play At Burlington

TEAMS GREAT RIVALS

The 16th annual battle for the "Little Brown Jug" between the Bristol High and Burlington High teams will take place tomorrow afternoon on the Burlington High field. Kickoff will take place at two o'clock.

At the present time, the standing between the two schools is even with six victories each and three deadlocks. Bristol has possession of the "jug," having taken it over in 1946.

Burlington was one of the two teams that the Warriors beat last season, it winning the Brown Jug trophy by a 13-6 score. Even though its record shows three wins and four defeats, Bristol is playing much better ball than it has for several seasons.

The Jerseyites have a much better record than the Warriors this season. It has won over Florence (undefeated last season), Riverside, Mt. Holly, and Camden Regional and has tied Moorestown. The only clubs to beat the Burs are Morrisville which scored a 6-0 victory on an intercepted lateral and Palmira which racked up a 13-6 score.

Burlington has scored 77 points while holding the opposition to 37. Bristol has counted 88 points while its opponents have mounted 164. But 46 of the latter points were credited to the Pottstown team.

The Blue Devils, coached by Ray Costello, will be in full strength for the contest. Alex Schultz, captain.

Edgar C. Raine Tells Of Early Alaska

An authority on Alaska, Edgar C. Raine, presented an interesting illustrated talk on "Alaska, The Frontier Wonderland of the World", when he spoke to Rotarians at St. James Parish House yesterday afternoon.

Raine, who went into the Alaskan territory with the prospectors in the late 1800's, showed a number of colored slides which portrayed the rugged beauty of this country. He also spoke on British Columbia, the Yukon Territory, Siberia and the Aleutian Islands.

The rugged existence of the early settlers who lived in tents, was compared with the comforts of a number of the modern cities to be found in Alaska today.

Guests were present for the program from Bristol, Bensalem, Jenkintown and Philadelphia. President Warren Woodruff presided.

RECOUNT CONDITIONS

A meeting of the Capparacott of Bristol, Phila., Pa. Burlington and Trenton, N. J., was held in Mutual Aid Hall Sunday. Speakers were Mrs. J. Fagnione, of Trenton, N. J., who recently returned from a three months visit to Capparacott, Italy, and Remo Sammarone, Philadelphia, who recently arrived from Capparacott after living there during the Nazi occupation. Tears were seen in women's eyes and the men had lumps in their throats as Sammarone told of the hardships and mental torture suffered by the inhabitants during the occupation by the Nazis. John Fagnione, chairman of the Capparacott Aid committee, reported on the progress of the fund and plans were made as to disposition of the money. Others on the committee are V. Di Lorenzo, P. Giuliano, N. Fagnione, V. Di Ruzzo, S. Di Ruzzo, V. Ferrelli, F. Augellaccio and L. Tretto.

the Burlington County Bridge Commission, Judge Kinkead continued a temporary restraining order he had issued earlier and decreed that the sale situation be kept in its present state.
Thus, no transfers can now be made of the monies paid for the bridges and the sale of the bonds is likewise halted.

Defendants in the taxpayers' suit include the county freeholders and the new bridge commissioners whom the freeholders appointed.
Within a half-hour after the commissioners were appointed they arranged to buy the two spans and the same day, Oct. 22, they acquired the bridges by floating $12,400,000 worth of revenue bonds.

AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS

Fifty-five schools in various parts of the country have been chosen to receive valuable sets of audio-visual aids through the National Education Association. The fortunate schools will be "pilots" in their areas, demonstrating the use of this new and effective technique of teaching.

Audio-visual devices include, of course, the well-known ones of motion-pictures, slides, phonograph records. A sound movie is truly audio-visual in its double-barreled impact on both ear and eye. If anyone has any doubts as to the influence of the movies on the young, now is the time for said person to make his or her views known.

Hollywood is definitely aware that young persons sit in darkened theatres and identify themselves with the heroes and heroines of the screen.

The recent global unpleasantness brought the educational movie to full prestige as a means of getting ideas into skulls quickly and painlessly. The operation of radar was demonstrated in animated cartoons. And innumerable other subjects were made interesting, yes fascinating, by the training films.

They were called training aids because they couldn't do the whole teaching job. They just speeded it up.

Wisely used, not to excess, audio-visual aids can do wonders for teachers. They make things clear that the spoken or printed word alone cannot always illuminate sufficiently. Some things, like the working of a machine, lend themselves to audio-visual explanation better than other subjects do.

A lazy teacher would get lazier with the use of the aids. A bright and devoted teacher can put them to work in stimulating her pupils and herself to new successes.

raw the grass they started to pull some of the blades out (to see if it was real or like the grass they see in store windows with Christmas displays). They smelled it and some even tasted it.

The "three cent movies", shown once a week; work of the resident staff; the fact that the mothers are loathe to leave on their evening at the "house" were recounted. Mrs. Bartram invited the Guild to visit the center in a group.

Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, a former president of the guild was invited by the guild president, Mrs. Walter W. Pitzonka, to speak. Mrs. Ancker urged members to give more than two garments annually if possible. She remarked to the directors: "If one of your members falls down on the job, don't let her go. If we all do our part our guild will grow."

Mrs. Pitzonka informed that over one-third of the garments remained in Bristol during the past year, with organizations and individuals benefiting.

A business meeting is to be conducted in December, with directors being notified later of place and time. Named on the nominating committee are Mrs. Paul V. Forster, chairman; Mrs. Frank Lehman and Mrs. Clyde Betts, Sr.

The Rev. William Carroll, pastor of Harriman Methodist Church, offered prayer.

Coffee and cup cakes were served by Miss Francis H. Landreth, Mrs. Maude Morris and Mrs. Frank Lehman.

Paterson Parchment Paper Co. Strike Case is Heard in The Bucks County Court

Attorney Beechwood, at this point asked that the court dismiss the motion of the defendant counsel to stay the proceedings, and that the plaintiff be allowed to present testimony.

The motions were denied by Judges Keller and Boyer and the testimony got under way.

Rex E. Daggett, of Philadelphia, regional director of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, was called as the first witness by the plaintiff. Daggett is a defendant witness but was also called for examination by Attorney Beechwood.

Daggett admitted that he was in charge of the contract negotiations between the plaintiff company and the union.

A picket line was placed around the Parchment plant on Aug. 20, 1948 the witness testified, and then asked that the picket line was okayed by the union.

"The picket line was placed there to notify people that labor trouble existed and a strike was under way," Daggett testified.

The plaintiff company contends that because of picket lines and a strike the boilers of the paper company's plant could not be inspected by the State, as required.

The witness, Daggett, admitted that money is being furnished by the International Union to further this particular strike.

Jay Baker, of Tullytown, president of Bristol No. 506, International Paper Makers Union, was also called for examination. He said he was present at a conference at the plant on Aug. 20. He denied that he said at the conference that he would allow no products of the plant to leave or arrive during strike. The witness admitted that he told company officials that a picket line would be established.

Baker testified that 195 voted to strike and 97 against it. He denied that his own father and many others had said they would like to go back to work.

The plaintiff attorney presented a number of advertisements inserted in the Bristol Courier by the union, which he contends were of an intimidating nature. Baker testified that some of the advertisements were inserted by a representative of the International Union.

"Do you mean to contend for a minute that it is a matter of intimidation and wrong for the insertion of such advertisements as were printed in the Bristol paper?" defense attorney asked the witness. No answer was noted.

Edwin R. Hadley, of New York, sole distributor of some of the products of the plaintiff company, testified that without certain kinds of spinning paper said to be made by the Paterson Company, woolen mills in New England cannot spin French type yarns.

Hadley testified that he went to the mill himself to transact some business in August and was told that he had to get a pass. Hadley also testified that he was unable to get 900 pounds of spinning paper for which he had important orders. Hadley testified that he finally secured a pass to get inside.

Albert J. Vreudenberg, plant engineer of the Paterson Parchment Paper Company, and a member of the negotiating committee testified that he had asked the union on Friday, Aug. 20, for men to unload carloads of coal then in the plant yard, and to unload some coal in transit.

The witness testified that certain very important construction work at the plant has been stopped after the union had consented to allow it to proceed.

Vreudenberg testified that arrangement had been planned to examine, inspect and clean boilers in the plant—and that the company had a legal contract with the union to have workers do the work but that it was never done.

Vreudenberg also testified that he was refused by the union to have men do work on the boilers and to carry out manufacture of electric current for a number of company houses.

Gerhart J. Lauter, Philadelphia contractor testified that he has an extensive contract with Paterson Parchment Paper Company for new installations but that the work has not been started because his own mechanics will not enter the plant.

John R. Dufford, assistant general manager of the plaintiff firm, a member of the board of directors and the plant's negotiating committee, said:

"I overheard Jay Baker say last Aug. 20, that nothing would be moved from the plant from this day on," Dufford testified. Baker is head of the Bristol local.

"This statement was made before the company had been notified that a strike would be called."

The company consented to raise pay 5 cents an hour, Dufford testified, and the union demand was increased from 11 cents to 15 cents an hour increase.

Dufford testified that considerable quantities of pulp which was purchased by the company cannot be delivered because it was told by union representatives that it could not be received.

"The union has told us that we cannot receive the pulp," Dufford testified.

"Your company does not operate the trains into your yards; does it?" the defense attorney asked the witness. "What you mean is that the railroad engineer refused to bring the trains into your yards,"

Baker testified that 195 voted to strike and 97 against it. He denied that his own father and many others had said they would like to go back to work.

The plaintiff attorney presented a number of advertisements inserted in the Bristol Courier by the union, which he contends were of an intimidating nature. Baker testified that some of the advertisements were inserted by a representative of the International Union.

The witness testified that certain very important construction work it is not the fault of your workers," he added.

Rev. Edward G. Yeomans, pastor of Bristol Presbyterian Church, was asked by plaintiff counsel, whether he had been approached by any employees of the company asking him whether he could find out how they could return to work.

The minister's answer was "yes." Rev. Yeomans testified that he presented a petition with signatures to John Baker, of Bristol, father of Jay Baker, head of the union, last Saturday. The petition to the union contained names of 140 people, and asked the union to take a secret ballot vote and agree to accept 5 cent raise.

Defense counsel objected to admission of petition in the record. "The petition shows that at least 140 employees want to return to work," the company attorney answered.

The objection to offering the petition at this time was sustained by Judge Keller.

A photostat copy of the petition was identified by the Rev. Yeomans as copy of one turned over to Jay Baker at the union headquarters in Bristol last Saturday.

The objection to offering the petition at this time was sustained by Judge Keller.

A photostat copy of the petition was identified by the Rev. Yeomans as copy of one turned over to Jay Baker at the union headquarters in Bristol last Saturday.

The minister's answer was "yes." Rev. Yeomans testified that he presented a petition with signatures to John Baker, of Bristol, father of Jay Baker, head of the union, last Saturday. The petition to the union contained names of 140 people, and asked the union to take a secret ballot vote and agree to accept 5 cent raise.

Defense counsel objected to admission of petition in the record. "The petition shows that at least 140 employees want to return to work," the company attorney answered.

Last Chapter of "SUPERMAN"

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Mixed results . . . the hunters who bagged their limit of two pheasants on the opening day of the 1948 Pennsylvania small game season (Monday of this week) were the exception to the rule in Bucks County, according to all reports.

A small minority did achieve that feat, many others had one bird, but the great majority came home minus Mr. Ringneck.

Briefly, the opening day can be summed up by stating that pheasants were not too plentiful and rabbits scarce. Warm weather and dense cover were probably contributing factors in the light kill.

An estimated 10,000 gunners were afield in Bucks County on opening day, with heavy concentrations in the Quakertown farm-game areas. There were plenty of men afield in the lower end of the County, but not to the degree anticipated.

Our party hunted in Middletown Township in the morning. By 9:30 we had a cockbird and a bunny. At noon we still had the same, although two more birds and two rabbits were jumped and missed.

In the afternoon we hunted farm-game projects in Makefield, Newtown and Wrightstown Townships. We saw just one cottontail the balance of the day. He disappeared down a chuck hole before any of us could raise a gun.

Meeting . . . the last meeting of the current year of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the meeting room of the American Legion Post Home, Radcliffe street. Although the November meeting is usually just a business session for the windup of the year's business, something extra has been added, however, for the meeting next Tuesday. Secretary Jim Chichester has secured several good reels of motion pictures for this meeting. All members are urged to be on hand, and all interested sportsmen have a cordial invitation to attend.

Federation notes . . . the unsportsmanlike, careless, indifferent, disrespectful attitude of some gunners on opening day were soundly rebuffed by delegates from up-County clubs at the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs meeting held in Doylestown Monday evening.

The delegates warned that violations of the Game Code and concern for the property of others may have repercussions to the extent that hunting privileges now extended through the co-operation of farmers on farm-game projects may be denied.

The annual meeting of the Federation (dinner and entertainment) will be held on January 10th. Full details will be announced at a later date.

Delegates were advised that a resolution providing for a pre-season archery shooting season, introduced at a recent meeting of the State Federation, was voted down by the State body.

Some delegates reported that vermin appear to be on the increase, this accounting for the fact that game is not showing up well—the predators are killing game as fast as it is liberated.

The Federation has endorsed a resolution calling for an increase in the resident hunter's license fee from $2.00 to $3.50, plus 15 cents issuing charge. Such a resolution will be presented in the form of a bill at the 1949 session of the Legislature.

The following clubs were represented at the meeting: Branch Valley, Bristol, Bucks County, Edgely, Great Swamp, Hilltown, Morrisville, New Hope, Paletown, Yardley and Conestoga.

Letter . . . from the Newportville Rod & Gun Club (located on Haunted Lane, Bridgewater) comes this communication from one of the club's officers:

"...there will be a public blue-rock shoot over the Newportville R. & G. Club traps on Sunday, November 7th, at 1 p. m. also dead mark for turkeys. The price for clays and shells is still $2.25.

"The 200-yard big bore range is now complete with pit and markers. Targets for range are available on the Club grounds."

ter, who was injured several weeks ago is back into action as is Earl Harris, a regular guard.

Costello has a fast backfield in Dick Fandetta, Jack VanBrunt, Bill Hutton, and Blair Decker. When Burlington is on the defense, Ed Hutton takes the place of Quarterback Fandetta.

Other starters in the Burs line will be Tony Taranto and Marty Hammell at ends; Ken Johnson or Jack Gauntt at tackles and "Bill" Vernon at guard.

Coach Harry McClister, of the Warriors, has his team primed for the tilt. The Warriors had a let-down in the Langhorne contest. The team did not play the brand of ball it has shown all season even though it scored three touchdowns. The let-down was sort of expected after the team had finished meeting such schools as Abington, Conshohocken, and Vineland. Now, McClister has ripped them back into their old form and is anticipating a Bristol triumph to keep the Brown Jug on this side of the river.

Although anything may happen between now and game time, the Bristol coach may start the following: Ends, "Jim" Sotille and Marty Braam; tackles, George Warchol and Bud Weida; guards, Bud Pearson and "Shorty" Gleason; center, Val Bielecki; backs, Al Daniel, "Bill" Moll, "Whitey" Welker, and "Bob" Kornstedt.

EDDINGTON, Nov. 5 — A party was arranged by Mrs. Dorothy Nyiri in honor of the sixth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Beverly Gail, on Sunday at their residence, here. Decorations were in orange and black. Paper skeletons were hung about the room. Favors were small pumpkins filled with candy. Games were enjoyed. Refreshments were served to "Peggy Sue" Vansant, Ruth Ann Williams, Barbara Fields, Georgette Biscardi.

HULMEVILLE

A visit was paid during the past week by Miss Isabel Jones to Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold English at Yeadon. Wednesday guests of Mrs. Wil-

Ham Codling were Mrs. Harry Jorrett and Mrs. Robert Volkie and son, "Bobby," of Fox Chase.
